IPCC (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change). Using no jargon, it looks at tackling and adapting to man-made climate change, and works through the often confusing potential solutions. Bert Metz is the former co-chair of the IPCC, at the center of international climate change negotiations. His insider expertise provides a cutting edge assessment of issues at the top of the political agenda. He leads the reader succinctly through ambitious mitigation scenarios, in combination with adapting our future societies to different climate conditions and the potential costs of these measures. Illustrations and extensive boxed examples motivate students to engage with this essential global debate, and questions for each chapter are available online for course instructors.

Save 40% on your purchases $9 a day grows to $55,000, $400,000, $900,000 over time You can save $3,000 a year on the things you buy now. If you could have $900,000 tax-FREE in 33 years by investing that $3,000 a year in 10 mutual funds, would you do it? Most people would say "yes" but we know they don't do it. Wealthy people have done this and that is why they stay wealthy. They save 40% on all their purchases. They put some money to work in the market FIRST; then spend it. Why don't we all do that? Each of their $100 investment checks turns into $1500 over time.

They pay $24,000 for their $50,000 vehicle; $2.2 million for their $4 million mansion. They use the cash their investments make. It's called compounding and it requires time.

When the rich put their money to work in businesses, they know it takes time to grow. $9 a day, $250 a month, $3,000 a year, $99,000 in 33 years.

That is how The Working Millionaire stays wealthy. Luckily, obtaining $900,000 from $99,000 does NOT require you to be a genius or a lucky stock picker. All it takes is $9 a day.

You can set up this investment in one hour on the telephone or computer at no cost. You tell the low-cost trustee firm to take $250 a month from your checking account automatically. Your spouse does it too. You check on your low-cost mutual funds once a year.

That's it. You do nothing else because it takes time not fiddling. Every morning when you hear that stocks are down, you know you are buying more on sale. You are doing what wealthy people do every day-you are leaving your money alone to do WORK. "My wealth has come from a combination of living in America, some lucky genes, and compound interest." Impressive statistics are thrown at us every day - the cost of health care; the size of an earthquake; the distance to the nearest star; the number of giraffes in the world. We know all these numbers are important - some more than others - and it's vaguely unsettling when we don't really have a clear sense of how remarkable or how ordinary they are. How do we work out what these figures actually mean? Are they significant, should we be worried, or excited, or impressed? How big is big, how small is small? With this entertaining and engaging book, help is at hand. Andrew Elliott gives us the tips and tools to make sense of numbers, to get a sense of proportion, to decipher what matters. It is a celebration of a numerate way of understanding the world. It shows how number skills help us to understand the everyday world close at hand, and how the same skills can be stretched to demystify the bigger numbers that we find in the wider contexts of science, politics, and the universe. Entertaining, full of practical examples, and memorable concepts, Is That A Big Number? renews our relationship with figures. If numbers are the musical notes with which the symphony of the universe is written, and you're struggling to hear the tune, then this is the book to get you humming again.
